

Table of Contents

Introduction .....	3
Sample Lesson Plan .....	4
Unit Planner .....	5
Getting to Know the Book and the Author .....	6
Suggestions for Using the Unit Activities .....	7
Unit Activities: Language Arts
• Pocket Chart Activities .....	12
• Sentence Strips .....	14
• Pocket Chart Patterns .....	15
• Story Questions .....	16
• Stick Puppet Theaters .....	17
• Stick Puppet Patterns .....	18
• Examining the Book .....	19
• Vocabulary .....	20
• Story Elements .....	21
• Summarize It .....	22
• Caps on My Head .....	23
• Monkeying Around with Contractions .....	24
• Who Was It? .....	25
• What Do You Think? .....	26
• End It Right! .....	27
• Rhyming Words .....	28
• Sales Poster .....	29
• Writing Activities .....	30
Unit Activities: Related Curriculum
• Figure It Out! .....	31
• Barrel of Monkeys ® .....	32
• Exact Change .....	33
• Following Directions .....	34
• Cap Patterns .....	35
• Town and Country .....	36
• Career Hats .....	37
• Labeling a Diagram .....	38
• Monkey Book .....	39
• What Would You Do? .....	42
• Monkey Pattern .....	43
• P. E. Activities .....	45
Culminating Activities
• Dramatic Reading/Dramatization .....	46
• A Sale of Your Own .....	47
Bibliography .....	47
Answer Key .....	48

Story Elements

Directions: Using a story map is an excellent way of looking at the structure of a story. A story map is simply a visual representation of the elements that make up a story: title, setting, characters, problem, and solution. Use the story map below to take a closer look at the elements that make up the story, Caps for Sale.

Monkey Book

Directions: Learn more about monkeys by cutting out, assembling, and reading this minibook.

✂-----

Monkeys:
A Book of Information

Name _____

1

✂-----

Old World

New World

There are more than 100 types of monkeys. They are divided into two groups, Old World monkeys and New World monkeys. The Old World monkeys live in Africa and Southeast Asia. The New World monkeys live in South America and Central America. A monkey can live to be more than 20 years old.

2